*Your good Spirit guided me
On the safe path*

Pentecost 2026

Dear Friends,

That is what we are living for—the Feast of Pentecost.

We do this together with you, in prayer and reflection.

The text on the front tells us that the Spirit can guide us along the safe path. What an encouraging text! Who doesn't look for safety? What a blessing it is when you can say: I feel safe here, or: I am safe on this road. If you can say: I feel safe with that person, or if you hear that it is said: with you I feel safe. Yet it is often a search to find safety and you ask for advice.

That is why we go to the Counselor par excellence, the Holy Spirit. He can bring us the security that the human heart craves. First, you need to feel safe with God, and not everyone will show you the way there.

However, the Spirit does not always come with a “Pentecostal outpouring,” and silence is needed to hear His whisper.

Those quiet moments are precious. We discover how much beauty comes up and that makes us so grateful.

As we do every year, we are preparing for Pentecost together with the churches and many people. You are familiar with our nine-day prayer novenas. We trust that the Holy Spirit is a safe path to lead us to that security, which is different for everyone. May we find safe in Him, and may we also become people who can offer safety to others.

From experience, you know best how great the need is for safety and security.

The following page contains a few intercessions that you can supplement with your own thoughts.

The days of prayer will continue throughout the month of June, dedicated to the Sacred Heart of Jesus.

We sincerely hope and pray that may these be Spirit-filled days for you and all the ‘People of God on the way’, culminating in a —

Blessed Pentecost

With warm Pentecost greetings,

The Sisters of the Cenacle Convent, Utrecht

Intercessions —

Lord Jesus, we pray:

May all who seek the deeper meaning of life be touched by the Spirit who can make everything new.

May the motto 'Faith goes further' become visible through your Spirit in us humans, especially in young people.

May the Light of the Holy Spirit break through the darkness in our society.

May the churches come to that unity for which you yourself have prayed so fervently.

May the Holy Spirit continue to draw young people to be of service in your church as priests, religious or in any other way, and thus also to be close to many who come their way.

Finally, we bring before You the joys and sorrows of all Your people and pray especially for those who have been so badly affected by the war and disasters. You know them all by name. We pray: Listen, Lord, and have mercy on them and on all of us.
